He's an alright fellow to work for, so say all 45 employees of Arthur Alwright, left, and especially right now. Alwright is taking the whole lot of his workers on an all-expenses-paid Mediterranean cruise. He says it's his way of saying "Thank you" for the 13 years of service most of the employees have given him. The excursion is being operated by Alwright's wife, who will be accompanying him. ## World Reacts Favorably To Johnson's Speech

LONDON (Reuters) — Favorable reaction to President Johnson's address to a joint session of Congress Wednesday continued to pour in from around the world today for President Johnson's first major policy statement since his election.

TODAY'S STOCK QUOTATIONS

TORONTO (CPI) — The stock market had settled back into its old rut with prices slightly easier in moderate morning trading today.

There was no fixed pattern on the industrial board where banks were again the major losers. A major factor was missing with the New York market closed because of the United States Thanksgiving holiday.

Among bank issues, Royal Bank, Imperial Bank of Commerce, and Nova Scotia Bank were down. Moore Corporation dipped 1/4 and Price Brothers and Canada Cement 1/4 each among others.

Robert Kennedy Has No Thoughts As Yet About His Political Future

WASHINGTON (AP) — The political future of Attorney-General Robert F. Kennedy is the farthest thing from his mind just now, those associates of the brother of the assassinated president reported today.

He just hasn't had time to put things out in his mind and plan a future," said one aide who asked not to be quoted by name.

But as the capital rebounds from the shock of John F. Kennedy's death, one of the top political questions is: What will become of Robert Kennedy now? Until the death of the president, Robert Kennedy was probably the second most influential man in the executive branch. He was his brother's most intimate adviser.

Today, like nine other men, he is a member of President Johnson's cabinet.

It is generally felt that Kennedy—at least for the foreseeable future—will remain attorney-general. He would like to see the civil rights legislation pushed by him and his late brother get through Congress. And he most likely will want to be around to see what happens to President Johnson's successor. Kennedy's political future is still uncertain.

Warm Salute To Vernon On Powerhouse Theatre

Drew Allen, the Vernon Theatrical Arts Society, in fact all of Vernon, can be highly commended this week in the realization of the Powerhouse Theatre.

Although Kamloops and Penticton, in this area, have more than adequate school auditoriums, the Powerhouse Theatre is second only to Kelowna's Community Theatre, as an exclusive place for the performing arts.

The community work evident in the Powerhouse to make it what it is today stands as a shining light to other communities who might think the old-style neighborhood is a thing of the past.

It proves, that in many circles, people still can work for the things they feel important, and not just for the almighty dollar.

On May 14 when the Vernon powerhouse was found to be available, negotiations began with the B.C. Power Commission, the city of Vernon and those interested in little theatre.

Since then many further negotiations have been completed and much work and worry expended by those involved.

An agreement in principle on a lease was reached in September, 1962, and the Vernon Little Theatre group formed the Vernon Theatrical Arts Society, with Drew Allen president. Cost of the 150-seat auditorium now stands at $20,000, with most of the money coming from donations and donations. The Koorner Foundation also granted $500.

For the past five years the group has been putting on its plays in a school auditorium and before that it was the Boy Scout hall. Now it has its own "intimate theatrical home."

The group also has room to store equipment, sets, costumes, library and museum. It also has a clubroom and workshop. The remodeled building has facilities for every theatrical aspect, with room for added seats when finances allow.

Kelowna salutes Vernon's effort in a worthwhile project.

Advice From Ottawa Taken And So Canada "Seen First"

By RONALD LEBEL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

This was the year Canadians took the advice of their government and saw Canada first.

This was also the first year in 13 that saw foreign tourists spend more money in Canada than Canadian tourists spent abroad.

All provinces except British Columbia report a record year in terms of dollar volume and number of visitors. And while B.C. experienced a slight decline in overall tourist traffic because of a 10-per-cent drop in the number of U.S. visitors, it played host to an increasing parade of tourists from other parts of Canada.

Foreign tourists will by the end of the year have spent nearly $600,000,000 in Canada, up $40,000,000 from 1962 and $115,000,000 from 1961.

HIGHWAY HELPS

Due to Canada's chronic international balance-of-payments deficit, federal and provincial governments have bent every effort in recent years to encourage Canadian travellers to spend more at home and less abroad.

Federal spokesmen say there are at least three factors contributing to a growing tendency for Canadians to visit neighboring provinces instead of the United States or Europe.

The devaluation of the Canadian dollar, for instance, to 92½ cents in terms of U.S. currency.

—The drastic reduction since

June, 1962, in the value of merchandise as a returning tourist may bring home.

Down to $25 from $100 one every four months for visitors to the U.S., and to $100 from $300 once a year for those going overseas.

—The near-completion of the Trans-Canada Highway, coupled with the camping and trailer boom and rapid development of historic sites.

For the 1967 centennial year the government is aiming for a billion dollars in spending by foreign tourists — $100,000,000 from Europeans and $200,000,000 from Americans.

Here is the 1963 tourist picture province by province.

British Columbia: The tourist bureau estimated spending will be slightly below the $145,000,000 record set last year, due entirely to a 10-per-cent drop to 1,200,000 in the number of American visitors in the first nine months. But the number of visitors from other parts of Canada is considerably higher than the 1962 total of 350,000.

Unusual attractions include a new ferry service between Prince Rupert, B.C., and Alaska.

Alberta: "We've had an excellent tourist year," said travel director Ed Bryant. Spending increased $10,000,000 to an estimated $100,000,000. The number of visitors to the big national parks jumped 27 per cent to 3,506,343 and the volume at provincial parks rose 15 per cent to about 2,000,000. Preliminary figures indicate that more visitors came from Ontario than anywhere else, with California second.

Manitoba: Tourist spending in 1963 is expected to reach $11,000,000, an increase of $1,000,000. The number of U.S. visitors rose to 816,000 from 760,000 and the number of Canadian visitors to 240,000 from 220,000.

Ontario: The travel and publicity department reported that tourism replaced agriculture this year as the province's leading industry, behind manufacturing.

An estimated 1,125,000 U.S. visitors saw the province in the first nine months, a 6.5-per-cent jump. Travel from other provinces also hit a new peak.

Quebec: Marc Hardy, assistant director of the provincial tourist bureau, said interprovincial tourism is increasing "quite a bit." The bureau is promoting historic sites extensively to round out Quebec's traditional tourist attractions such as the Quebec City Winter Carnival and the three Roman Catholic shrines — St. Joseph's Oratory at Montreal, one at Cap-de-la-Madeleine, and St. Anne-de-Bellefleur — which drew 3,500,000 visitors.

New Brunswick: The travel bureau estimated tourist spending rose $10,000,000 to $36,000,000 from June 1 to Sept. 30 compared with the same period in 1962. There were 1,800,000 visitors against 1,732,000. An attraction was the Dunn International Exhibition of contemporary art which brought 20,000 visitors to Fredericton in a single month.

Nova Scotia: In the first eight months 150,502 cars entered the province, up 6,400 from the same period last year. Trade Minister E. A. Manson was confident the 1962 records of 700,000 visitors and $55,000,000 in tourist income would be surpassed.

Canadian vehicles entering the province rose 8,000 to 102,000 while the number of U.S. cars dropped 2,000 to 48,000.

Prince Edward Island: A total of 278,273 tourists visited the province compared with 252,740 last year. This included 118,832 from other provinces. Value of the tourist industry was $10,338,000 compared with $9,421,000 in 1962.

Newfoundland: Tourist Director O. L. Vardy said all indications point to 1963 being the best year ever. The CNR reported increased traffic across Cabot Strait — 2,046 cars and 20,400 passengers for the June-August period compared with last year's 1,608 and 20,150. The 10 provincial parks had 111,832 visitors against 390,684 in 1962.

OTTAWA REPORT

Nothing Surprising In Vote Tabulation

By PATRICK NICHOLSON
Daily Courier Ottawa Bureau

Canada's chief electoral officer, Nelson Chastagnier, has forecast the first official tabulation of the voting in last April's general election.

There is nothing surprising in the disclosure that more Canadians voted in our 26th general election than in any previous election. Our steady growth of population should see each successive election establishing a new record. But it must make us pause to reflect on the fact that we have not yet reached the 100,000 mark in the number of votes cast in the election of June 1957.

The total vote this year was 7,047,776. But there were approximately 19,000,000 Canadians registered as eligible to vote. This is not a record to be proud of.

Comparison of the voting patterns over the last six general elections—those of 1948, 1953, 1957, 1958, 1962 and 1963—shows some interesting trends in the pattern of that period. There came a time when the Conservative party, which was in power, was in a gradual decline in Conservative support leading up to that peak and a subsequent decline. This was followed by a reverse downward trend for the Liberal and New Democratic parties, followed by an upward trend for the Conservative party in 1963.

The Social Credit party has gained steadily in voter support over the whole era.

Three of the last four elections have produced minority governments. The obvious responsibility of any parliament in these circumstances is to create some coalition which can control the House — as it attempted and generally achieved in every other democratic country where more than two parties obtain seats in the legislative assembly. The early signs of coalition and endorsement are very evident on Parliament Hill.

now, in attempts to build up strong parties. This has not yet resulted in any admitted voluntary coalition, but history will reveal that one party has been rejected.

The New Democrats, allies the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation, is the only party which now stands where it did in 1948. In that year, and again this year, it won 18 per cent of the vote. The other small party, Social Credit, has tripled its electoral support—from four per cent in 1948 to 11 per cent this year. The Conservatives are almost down again to their 1948 level. In that year they won 36 per cent of the vote, in the following elections they won 31 per cent in 1953, 39 per cent in 1957, 34 per cent in 1958, 37 per cent last year and only 33 per cent this year. The Liberals had 30 per cent in 1948 and again in 1953, then they dropped to 42, 34, 31 and the year rose to 41 per cent. Meanwhile other candidates, independent voters, farmers and unorganized voters, have dropped from three per cent of the vote in 1948 to less than one per cent of the vote.

The percentages show that the Conservatives have declined everywhere to a lower level of support than they received in 1957, which was the first "Dief-buster" year—except on the prairies. In nationwide support, they have dropped a percentage point since 1957. In Quebec the drop has been 11 points; in Ontario it has been 14 points. In terms of the whole electorate, 1,110,000 potential votes have turned away from the Conservatives since 1957. This year the party received only 1,200,000 votes. The only candidate whom it can be drawn from these figures is that the leader, John Diefenbaker, has gravely split the party. Yet on the prairies he won in 1962 70,000 more votes than he won in 1957.

A Near Miracle In Birmingham

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—

Considering all that Birmingham has been through in the last six months, its situation today seems little short of miraculous.

Nobody can say with certainty what tomorrow may bring.

But for the moment at least, the city is quiet. Men express cautious optimism about the outlook for continued peace between the races. More integration has taken place than in any other city. Figures indicate the economic picture is brightening.

Most important, whites and Negroes, sitting together in council rooms and trying to find solutions for the disagreements that have made the name Birmingham another synonym for racial strife in the United States.

BOMBINGS FOLLOWED

Only a short time ago none of this seemed probable.

Just six months ago hundreds of Negroes were demonstrating in the streets. More than 2,400 were jailed, so many that temporary detention houses had to be found. National and even international attention focused on Birmingham.

A truce ended the demonstrations.

But the agreement was hardly formed before a Negro motel was bombed. Other bombings followed on "Dynamite Hill," a Negro residential district. There was shooting and brick-throwing in September, while extremists clashed with police. Two high schools and an elementary school were integrated. Finally, on Sunday, Sept. 15, tragedy struck even harder—four Negro girls died in the bombing of a church.

The thunderous events of these six months will not soon be forgotten by either Negroes or whites.

Get Search Party Ready

(Prince George Citizen)

Pack a lunch, Mother, and get the search party ready. We're going hunting on the weekend.

How about it; aren't you a little tired of hunters being lost in the bush?

It's getting so there are more people out hunting hunters than there are hunters out hunting. Curiously enough, most of the lost ones come out of the bush blushing with modest heroism that they've survived instead of being embarrassed at getting lost in the first place.

Okay, so it's easy to get lost. If that's your argument, then the answer is: Don't go into the woods. Stay home. Read Field and Stream. Enjoy Sports Illustrated. Scan the daily sport page. Do anything but don't play Daniel Boone.

Of course the other alternative is to learn to read maps and to use a compass, learn to look back on the trail as well as ahead, watch for landmarks and, if you don't think this will work, take a truck loaded with a three mile ball of string to unravel as you wander through the bush.

People who get lost, lose themselves and it's a bit much to expect the expense and inconvenience of a major search under these circumstances.

IN PASSING

Recently a car dealer fainted and was "out cold" for an hour. A man with no car to trade in, offered to pay cash at full list price for the dealer's highest-priced car.

Another problem many of us have these days: If we worry about the high price of food while we're eating, we get indigestion; if we don't worry, we eat more than we can afford.

"Do you have a human skeleton you wish to sell?" Classified ad. No. We have only one, and presently we're making what seems to us to be an essential use of it.

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH

Transfer Possible But Not Advised

By JOSEPH MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Would it be possible for female organs to be removed from one person and transplanted in another who has had a hysterectomy, so the latter could have a child? The second person I have in mind is under 40 and already has had three children, but she recently underwent a hysterectomy. — MRS. V.C.

It may be possible but as yet I am not aware of this having been done. From letters I receive I am aware that there is a great deal of interest and misunderstanding about the transplantation of organs.

We read about a kidney being transplanted, but fail to realize that this happens most usually from one twin to another, or from one close relative to another.

We read about "eye banks," but do not notice that an entire eye never has been successfully transplanted, but only the cornea, a very small part of the covering of the eyeball.

We read or hear about skin being "grafted," without noticing that if skin is grafted, say from a person's leg to an arm, the skin will remain permanently. But if skin is taken from one person and grafted to another, it remains for only a matter of days or a few weeks, and then sloughs off.

Organs cannot be transplanted from one person to another and remain there, because the body has the protective ability of rejecting anything which is strange to it. With identical twins, they are so much alike that the body accepts such transplants. This is true to a lesser degree with fraternal twins, or very close relatives.

It is now possible to transplant organs in animals (such as a lung from one dog to another) but when the transplants succeed, even for some months, it is only with the use of extremely powerful drugs which inactivate or paralyze the factors in the animal's body which ordinarily reject foreign tissues or flesh.

We may someday be able to transplant organs freely and successfully, but we can't do it now, except in the most unusual cases.

Dear Dr. Molner: Should a mild diabetic be impotent? J.A. No, if he is, it is from some other cause.

Dear Dr. Molner: Is running a temperature ever a symptom of cancer?—A.J.

Yes, a fever that cannot be explained by the presence of an infection may be an indication of cancer, but some cases (such as cancer of liver or pancreas) may require extensive tests before the basic trouble can be identified.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have what is called Pictet's disease, but have been unable to find out much about it. What causes it? —MRS. R.F.

It is a disorder of one of the upper joints where the rib attaches to the breast bone. The cause is not known, and it frequently subsides spontaneously in a short time. If not, injection of hydrocortisone eases the discomfort. It is not serious.

Untrained Women Can Be Left In Jeopardy

Dear Ann Landers: Please I am writing in the hope that you will print my letter in the Kelowna Daily Courier. I am a 42-year-old woman who has been married for 15 years. I have three children, two boys and one girl. I am a housewife and I am not trained in anything. I am not trained in anything. I am not trained in anything.

Several of us teenagers are waiting for your answer because it happened to one of the greatest kids in our crowd and we want to know if what he did was right. Thank you—JASPER (13).

Dear Jasper: There's a reason for everything. The fact that you don't know the reason doesn't mean there is none.

The boy who got a clip in the chops may or may not have done a little something to earn it. If he was absolutely innocent then the girl is an erratic impulsive lion.

A boy who hits a girl for any reason whatever puts himself squarely in her class. The better approach is to take her straight home and love her phone number.

Please print this letter as a warning from someone who had to learn the hard way.—SAD SANDRA

Dear Ann Landers: I work in a plant which has an untrained new stand. It is the habit of certain employees to help themselves to the newspaper which prints your column. They take it into the cafeteria and read for about 10 minutes before the work day begins.

When they put the paper back, it usually has doughnut grease, bread-crumbs or coffee stains on it. Poor chumps (like me) who pay have to read a crumpled, pawed-over paper. It would not upset me so if these people were destitute and couldn't afford the few pennies. But as is usually the case, the ones who have the most money are the cheapest.

North Okanagan Teachers "Go To School" At Weekend

VERNON (Staff) — Several North Okanagan teachers are expected to attend the third in a series of English conferences here this weekend, said Nick Turk, public relations officer, North Okanagan Teachers' Association.

This conference, under the guidance of Floyd L. Irwin, superintendent of school district No. 22, Vernon, will take place at the Vernon Junior Secondary School on Saturday.

The primary consideration of this third session will be a study of the new approach to the teaching of English, said Mr. Turk. James Ishier, director of instruction, North Vancouver school district, will continue the work he initiated last March and May in his first two sessions. The program is as follows:

9:30-10 a.m. — Coffee

10:11 a.m. — Mr. Ishier will teach a selection in poetry to a grade eight demonstration class

11 a.m.-12 noon — A. Discussion which might arise from the demonstration lesson.

B. The short story.

1:30-2 p.m. — The teaching of the short story.

2:30-3 p.m. — Composition clinic. The discussion will be concerned with the actual writing of students of the junior secondary level. The principles involved however, will be general and as such should be of interest to teachers of other grades as well, said Mr. Turk.

Vernon Girls' Trumpet Band All Set For Grey Cup Parade

VERNON (Staff) — The Vernon Girls' Trumpet Band will leave Vernon by bus and car Friday evening to take part in the annual Grey Cup Parade at Vancouver.

The parade gets under way around 9 a.m. Saturday, and will see some 120 entries along with some 30 bands participating.

There are 30 band girls from Vernon making the trip, under the supervision of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Hodgson and Mr. and Mrs. C. Hendrickson, who will be driving some of the girls in the town cars.

According to Mr. Hodgson, the band has been notified by the Canadian Broadcasting Company they will be on a continuous TV program on which the history of the band will be given.

R. W. HODGSON

During the parade the girls will be wearing their colorful winter carnival uniforms of red and green with matching scarves and hats, all with white silver star motif, matching skirt and white gloves and boots.

EXTRA PLAYERS

Extra girls have been added to the band for this trip to carry two tumblers advertising Vernon's Winter Carnival and their star motif.

The entire cost of this trip for the 30 girls and four adults is $475, said Mr. Hodgson. This band has been assisted financially by the donations of $40 from the City of Vernon, Vernon Chamber of Commerce, Winter Carnival Committee and Silver Star Sports. The remaining balance of $375 was raised by the girls themselves with rummage sale and bazaar, and other various enterprises.

Band mothers have been very busy preparing up the winter carnival uniforms and making attractive plastic caps for the girls to wear in the event it rains.

The band will stay overnight Saturday at Mission, and will return home early Sunday evening.

They wind up their 1963 season with their annual parents' night on Dec. 5 at the canteen.

Winter Carnival Brochure Off Press By End Of Year

VERNON (Staff) — The 1964 edition of the Vernon Winter Carnival brochure will be off the press by the end of December, when 3,000 copies will have been printed, said carnival chairman Bill McLovin.

Winter carnival participating organizations who have not already done so, are requested to submit immediately brochure copy and information to brochure chairman, Mrs. William Sawicki.

Copy deadline was Nov. 27. All copy received by the winter carnival society is subject to editing and revising, before publication.

Brochure advertising chairman is Frank Hodgson. Local architect Terry Cover, design committee chairman, is in charge of the attractive 1964 brochure cover, along with Mrs. Douglas French, who has undertaken the artwork.

Only some 100 or so copies remain of the 1963 Winter Carnival brochure, said Mr. McLovin.

The 1964 winter carnival dates are Feb. 7 to 18, 1964.

Chinese Refuse To Honor JFK

WARSAW (Reuters) — A 30-strong Communist Chinese delegation at the World Peace Council meeting here today refused to join in a standing ovation to President John F. Kennedy and twice raised angry protests against the gesture.

The Chinese delegation remained seated as the rest of the Communist-backed body rose to their feet in a gesture of honoring for the assassinated western leader.

Penticton Man Found Guilty

VERNON (Staff) — An all-male jury deliberated for two hours Wednesday before bringing in a verdict of guilty on a breaking and entering and theft charge against Ronald Evan McColl, 46, of Penticton.

McColl was charged with breaking and entering the home of T. R. Weaver of Penticton on Aug. 24 and stealing a gold pocket watch valued in excess of $50.

Mr. Justice J. G. A. Hutchison remanded McColl until the end of the Assizes for sentencing.

Eleven witnesses were called by the Crown during the two-day trial, which began Monday here. McColl conducted his own defence.

In addressing the jury, Crown Counsel Grant McDonald said, "from the evidence produced you will have little difficulty in concluding the facts."

McColl, conducting his own defence and told the jury, "Some of the witnesses who appeared against me seemed a little uncertain in their evidence and the Crown has not yet proven any breaking and entry. I also remind you the police showed these witnesses my police photo before each of them identified me in the Nov. 5 police line-up."

The course starts this Saturday, at the Ski school bell.

Girl Trumpeters Play 'Cookhouse'

VERNON (Staff) — The Vernon Girls' Trumpet Band took time out from preparations for the Grey Cup parade Saturday to hold their annual banquet.

The banquet was held at the Vernon Youth Club and was attended by some 40 band girls and 11 adults.

Those attending were treated to a hearty dinner. Three girls from Kamloops and two from Sorrento who had left the band during the summer, returned for the occasion.

The banquet was hosted by Mr. and Mrs. R. Hodgson and the chairperson of this year's band. They were as follows: C. Hendrickson, Mrs. O. Goldsmith, Mrs. A. Abrahamson, Mrs. C. Scott, Mrs. W. Malone, and Mrs. C. O'Reilly. Fred Mason, the trumpet master, and the bus driver G. Redding were also present.

Following the banquet entertainment was provided by the chairperson. Guests of the girls then arrived and the balance of the evening was spent in dancing and ended with refreshments provided by the girls.

His performance — in 11 games, five of them playoffs — was so impressive that he was named the team's most valuable player.

But for a time early last season, Laperriere doubted he would ever be able to continue playing hockey.

The setback — the worst time of his life — began with a high-speed accident. A car in which Laperriere was a passenger was involved in a collision with a truck, sending him to hospital with serious head and neck injuries.

For weeks he lay in a cast, doing nothing but watching television. His normal playing weight of 180 pounds climbed to 205.

Overcame fear — But when he returned to the rink, he found himself in a different world. "I was so nervous that I was scared of getting hurt. It took me a lot of weeks to get over that. I really, really doubted that I would ever be able to play again. But I always did."

Gradually his confidence returned and he was flying again when late in the season, Bill Pollock, general manager of the Montreal Canadiens, picked him.

"Get all your gear together and come down to the rink," the Canadiens' player personnel manager told him. "You're going to Montreal for the rest of the season."

Laperriere recalls his first game with the Canadiens, a March 14 meeting at the Forum with the Detroit Red Wings.

Dew Line Slowly Ousted Leaving "Air Link Hope"

OTTAWA (C.P.)—The gradual but steady erosion of the Dew Line, the boundary between the Arctic and the temperate zone, is leaving the hope of a direct air link between the two regions in jeopardy. The line, which runs from the North Pole to the tip of South America, is being pushed southward by a combination of factors, including the melting of the ice cap and the warming of the atmosphere. This is causing the air to rise and expand, which in turn is pushing the line southward. The result is that the air link between the two regions is becoming increasingly tenuous.

NAMES IN NEWS

Mayor Of Dallas Warned Of Assassination Threats

FBI warned Mayor Earle Cabell, Stuart Burge, English-born, of Dallas, that he was one of two targets whose lives were being threatened. The warning came in the form of a letter from the FBI, which stated that the two targets were being threatened by a group of individuals who were planning to assassinate them. The letter was dated November 27, 1963.

DONALD FLEMING

Former Conservative finance minister Donald Fleming returned to Parliament Hill Wednesday to plead for speedy Senate approval of a private measure to incorporate a new insurance company to handle mortgage insurance. Mr. Fleming, acting as counsel for the promoters, said the proposed Mortgage Insurance Company of Canada plans to pioneer in the mortgage insurance field, covering loans made in second mortgages on residential dwellings.

Miss Christine MacArthur of Woodville, Ont., has been appointed director-in-chief of the Victorian Order of Nurses of Canada, it was announced Wednesday. She succeeds M. Elizabeth Reed of Fredericton, who retired recently.

U.S. Ambassador Carl T. Rowan, a prize-winning Negro journalist, has been named President Johnson's press secretary, reliable sources said in Helsinki Wednesday night. Rowan, the envoy to Finland, returned to Helsinki earlier this week after attending President Kennedy's funeral and consulting with President Johnson. He was in Washington about 10 days.

Norway's Red Cross Urges JFK Fund

OSLO (AP)—The Norwegian Red Cross said Wednesday it is urging creation of a world-wide John F. Kennedy Memorial Fund under International Red Cross auspices. The proposal has been made to the president of the International League of Red Cross Societies, who was asked to seek approval from the Kennedy family.

CUTS TAPE—MANILA (Reuters)—In an effort to encourage more tourists to visit the Philippines, President Diosdado Macapagal has ordered the suspension of red tape for visa applicants.

U.K. Presses Allies To Stop Selling Arms To Indonesia

LONDON (Reuters)—Britain is pressing its allies to stop selling arms to Indonesia, which has been accused of supplying arms to the Indonesian army. The British government is concerned that the arms sales are contributing to the instability in the region. It is urging other countries to join in a campaign to stop the sales.

U.S. Tourists "Aid Canada"

OTTAWA (C.P.)—The value of U.S. tourists' spending in Canada is estimated to be $1.5 billion a year, according to a report by the Canadian government. The report states that U.S. tourists are a major source of revenue for the Canadian economy. It also notes that the spending is expected to increase in the coming years.

By contrast, it is estimated that the U.S. government spends about $1 billion a year on military aid to other countries. This is a significant difference, especially when one considers the impact of U.S. tourists on the Canadian economy.

Mr. Field reported that in the past, the U.S. government has been reluctant to provide military aid to other countries. However, in recent years, it has become more willing to do so. This is due to a number of factors, including the Cold War and the need to maintain a strong military presence in the world.

Mr. Field also reported that the U.S. government is currently reviewing its policy on military aid to other countries. It is considering a number of options, including increasing the amount of aid and changing the way it is distributed.
